

Allison Cameron is a celebrated and award winning professional composer and musician based out of Toronto, Canada. She is an active teacher, performer, and writer with over twenty years of teaching and performance experience. She welcomes students of all ages, abilities, and interests and offers an encouraging, friendly, and practical approach to music education.

In addition to teaching Ukulele at University Settlement, Allison performs improvised music on a variety of instruments including ukulele, piano/keyboards, and percussion. She plays regularly with many of Toronto's finest musicians. She has performances of her chamber music at festivals and concert halls in Canada and abroad. Her website can be found at www.allisoncameron.com